PRESENTERS & FACILITATORS

Tricia Zebrowski, Ph.D., CCC-SLP, is a professor in the Department of Communication Sciences and Disorders at the University of Iowa. Her research, teaching and clinical interest is childhood stuttering, especially during adolescence. Since 1998, Tricia has directed UISPEAKS for Teens, a week-long summer residential program for teenagers who stutter held at the University of Iowa. A frequent presenter at professional conferences, Tricia is a long-time FRIENDS supporter and regularly presents at one-day workshops and the national convention.

Rick Arenas, Ph.D. is an associate professor at the University of New Mexico. His primary area of research is developmental stuttering. In his early career he focused on the neurobiological mechanisms involved in the variability of stuttering across contexts. Recently his research has transitioned toward the way people relate to their stuttering and how it plays a role in their personal narrative. Using qualitative methods, he is investigating how people who stutter change their thoughts and beliefs to live harmoniously with stuttering.

Lee Caggiano, M.A., CCC-SLP, BCS-F is the co-founder and director of FRIENDS. She has developed and coordinated workshops for children who stutter, families, and professionals for the past twenty-five years. She has presented at local and national conferences regarding the needs of children who stutter. Lee is a Board-Certified Specialist in Fluency Disorders and Director of the Stuttering Therapy and Resources of Northern Colorado. Lee is an adjunct professor at NYU and Queens College.

Lori A. Nelson, M.S, CCC-SLP is a Clinical Instructor/ Lecturer II in the Department of Speech and Hearing Sciences at the University of New Mexico. She is a teacher and clinician at the University of New Mexico. She works directly with people who stutter as well as trains and supervises graduate clinicians to work with people who stutter.
