GRADUATE STUDENT TRAINING PROGRAM

📍 Friends 2024 Annual Convention
Denver, Colorado

📅 July 18th-20th, 2024

Friends developed the Graduate Student Training Program (GSTP) to help graduate students in speech-language pathology get a better understanding of stuttering and its effect on children and their families.

The Friends GSTP provides a much-needed and valuable clinical opportunity for graduate students

This program enhances the knowledge and experience graduate students acquire in the field of stuttering

The GSTP addresses the affective, behavioral, and cognitive components of a young person who stutters

Students participating in the GSTP are required to attend educational meetings before, during, and after the convention, and volunteer during the convention by assisting an experienced speech-language pathologist in the children's workshops.

Calling All Future SLPs
Don't miss out on this amazing opportunity to work with stuttering specialists, ask questions, learn from children who stutter, and gain invaluable experiences!

In addition to the priceless learning opportunity, participation in the GSTP also includes:

🍴 Full meal pass: Friends will provide delicious cooked-to-order daily breakfast, buffet meals for lunch, and plated meals for dinner. In addition, there will be complimentary snacks, and evening Happy Hour during all conference days.
*The only meal that is not included is dinner on Friday. Check out the tentative schedule for more details on meals!
